

CptS 322: Component Diagram

This component diagram contains components for use cases relating to club sign-ups. For this to happen, the login must take place, and the user must be able to search for clubs. For the User to be able to do any of this it requires each of those components to be working on the web server. The DB is also connected to web server components allowing them to access stored information about clubs and users, along with update club information.
